"CBCCA operates as a membership association for home school parents. We maintain no fewer than 50 members each year. Our families home school 180 days per year and provide their children with reading, writing, math, science and social studies and also provide composition and literature in grades 7-12. Our high school seniors graduate with a diploma. Parents must maintain evidence of regular instruction including a record of subjects taught, activities in which the student and parent engage, and a portfolio of the child's work, with a progress report three times per year. Standardized testing is required for third grade and up.

Community Bible Church Christian Academy (CBCCA) is a legal umbrella that allows members of Community Bible Church to homeschool legally in South Carolina. CBCCA is open only to families who have at least one parent who is an active member of Community Bible Church."
